Page Title: Hearing Aids | Trident Hearing Care

Section Intro

Heading: The Right Hearing Aid Makes All the Difference

Choosing a hearing aid is deeply personal. The right device depends on your degree of hearing loss, your lifestyle, your ear anatomy, and your budget. At Trident Hearing Care, our certified audiologists help you find the perfect match — with free trials and professional fitting, so you can be confident before you commit.

Hearing Aid Styles

1. Receiver-In-Canal (RIC)

For: Mild to severe hearing loss

RIC hearing aids are lightweight, discreet, and extremely comfortable. The receiver (speaker) sits inside the ear canal, while a thin wire connects it to a small unit behind the ear. Excellent for first-time wearers who want natural sound quality with minimal visibility.

2. Behind-The-Ear (BTE)

For: Mild to profound hearing loss

The world's most popular hearing aid style. All electronics are housed in a casing that sits behind the ear, connected to a custom earmold inside the ear canal. Available in standard, mini, and high-power models — ideal for all age groups, including children.

3. In-The-Ear (ITE)

For: Mild to severe hearing loss

A custom-made hearing aid that fills the outer bowl of the ear. ITEs are easy to handle, feature larger controls, and can accommodate extra features like directional microphones and volume controls.

4. In-The-Canal (ITC)

For: Mild to moderate hearing loss

A smaller custom device that sits partially in the ear canal and partially in the outer ear. Less visible than ITE devices while still offering easy handling.

5. Completely-In-Canal (CIC)

For: Mild to moderate hearing loss

Tiny enough to fit almost entirely inside the ear canal. Only a small removal handle is visible. A discreet choice for adults who want cosmetic appeal without sacrificing performance.

6. Invisible-In-Canal (IIC)

For: Mild to moderate hearing loss

The ultimate in discretion. IIC devices sit in the second bend of the ear canal where they are completely out of sight. Ideal for adults seeking maximum invisibility.

Page Title: Understanding Hearing Loss | Trident Hearing Care

What Is Hearing Loss?

Hearing loss is one of the most common sensory conditions in the world, affecting over 63 million people in India alone. It can affect people of any age — from newborns to the elderly — and ranges from mild difficulty hearing soft sounds to profound deafness.

The good news? With modern hearing aids and early intervention, most people with hearing loss can lead full, active, and connected lives.

Types of Hearing Loss

Conductive Hearing Loss

Caused by problems in the outer or middle ear that prevent sound from reaching the inner ear. Often treatable medically or surgically.

Sensorineural Hearing Loss

The most common type. Results from damage to the hair cells in the inner ear or the auditory nerve. Typically permanent, but manageable with hearing aids.

Mixed Hearing Loss

A combination of conductive and sensorineural hearing loss affecting both the middle and inner ear.

Common Causes of Hearing Loss

- Aging (presbycusis)
  - Prolonged exposure to loud noise
  - Ear infections
  - Earwax buildup
  - Ototoxic medications
  - Genetic factors
  - Head trauma

Signs You May Have Hearing Loss

- Frequently asking people to repeat themselves
- Difficulty hearing in noisy environments
- Turning up the TV or radio volume higher than others prefer
- Missing parts of conversations
- Tinnitus (ringing or buzzing in the ears)

- Muffled speech or sounds

Why Early Treatment Matters

Untreated hearing loss can lead to social withdrawal, cognitive decline, depression, and reduced quality of life. Early diagnosis and intervention with the right hearing aids can significantly slow these effects and restore meaningful connection to the world around you.
